E-Markets, Inc. CEO Named to Microsoft Partner Advisory Committee

BERTHOUD, Colo. (November 26, 2007) -- E-Markets, Inc. is proud to announce that Scott Cavey, CEO and President, has been named to the Microsoft Independent Software Vendor (ISV) Partner Advisory Committee (PAC) for Microsoft Corporation for FY08 and FY09. E-Markets, the leading provider of software solutions and services to the agriculture industry, received one of twenty appointments selected to represent hundreds of ISV partners.

The ISV community creates applications to extend or enhance the functionality of the Microsoft Dynamics product suite. Dynamics is Microsoft's software solution for the key business processes of Financial Management, Supply Chain Management and Customer Relationship Management.

The ISV PAC is instrumental with helping Microsoft shape their Dynamics business for the future. PAC members work jointly as well as on subcommittees to deal with challenges common to the global ISV community.

"It's an honor to be recognized by Microsoft for our ability to represent the ISV community in helping Microsoft shape their Dynamics business for our mutual benefit. In addition to dealing with Global issues that ISV organizations face, being part of the ISV Pricing and Agreements committee allows for input on licensing improvements and ways to streamline ISV agreements." Scott Cavey, President and CEO, E-Markets, Inc.

"I want to thank you in advance for the outstanding contributions I know that you will make to the Dynamics ISV PAC over the next 2 years to help Microsoft shape the Dynamics ISV business for our mutual success. We believe that with your time investment as well as the time invested by the right Microsoft supporters, the Dynamics ISV PAC will be a valuable experience for both partners and Microsoft moving forward." Jeffrey Kratz, Director, Microsoft Corporation, US ISV Managed Partner Business, US Partner Group
